Palma Lindsay is an award-winning teacher with over 38 years of classroom experience teaching ELL, EO, and gifted and talented students. She has taught grades K-8, mentored new teachers, and held a variety of leadership roles while sharing her fun ideas in her innovative blog, "KFundamentals". Palma creates research-based, developmentally appropriate, and innovative strategies that foster conceptual understanding and support teachers to meet rigorous state standards. KFUNdamentals' TpT store can be found here: <https://www.teacherspayteachers.com/Store/Kfundamentals>. Her dynamic presentations are creative, high energy, and provide new and fresh ways to engage and motivate your pre-school, kindergarten, and first grade students.

ESGI to the Rescue

Are you wondering what all the buzz is about ESGI? Join me for a "hands-on" session where you will discover how ESGI can change your life! Learn how to easily get started with ESGI, how ESGI can save you hours assessing students and analyzing data, how to build your own custom tests to match your district's requirements, and how you can use ESGI to motivate students, drive your instruction, and instantly create RTI kits. BYOD = Bring Your Own Device, such as an extra iPad, laptop, or even a smart phone, and you can get started with your 60 day FREE trial live with me. (No cc required.) Then, see the variety of benefits and ways to use ESGI to make your teaching life easier and watch your students actually BEG YOU to test them! And whether you are in-class with students or through distance learning, you can assess students from your home to your students' homes. This workshop will cover these 3 topics: What is ESGI? How do I get started with ESGI? And ESGI in Action in a real classroom as well as how to also remotely assess. And best of all, I will be there, live with you, to answer any of your questions as you get started with this game changer called ESGI. Everyone will get a discount code + I will be giving away a FREE year of ESGI to one lucky winner!
